JOHN J. MEARSHEIMER Introduction Realists believe that power is the currency of international politics.Great powers,the main actors in the realists' account, pay careful attention to how much economic and military, There are few business activities more prone to a credibility gap than the way in which executives approach organizational life. A sense of disbelief occurs when managers purport to make decisions in rationalistic terms while most observers and participants know that personalities and politics play a significant if not an overriding role., We demand independent Black political power and Black self-determination in all areas of society. We envision a remaking of the current U.S. political system in order to create a real democracy where Black people and all marginalized people can effectively
